A graduate education from the Faculty of Arts and Science at Concordia University will give you skills, confidence and knowledge beyond mere technical training. Our students are unafraid to question the status quo, to discover and create imaginative solutions for today's complex issues, and to lead constructively and responsibly for the next-generation.

We acknowledge that Concordia University is located on unceded Indigenous lands. The Kanien'kehá:ka Nation is recognized as the custodians of the lands and waters on which we gather today. Tiohtiá:ke/Montreal is historically known as a gathering place for many First Nations. Today, it is home to a diverse population of Indigenous and other peoples. We respect the continued connections with the past, present and future in our ongoing relationships with Indigenous and other peoples within the Montreal community.

ABOUT US

The Faculty of Arts and Science is a powerhouse of interdisciplinarity that embraces innovative thinking in research, teaching and learning. We promote dialogue that spans the humanities, the social sciences and the sciences and create bridges between different people and research units.

41% OF OUR GRADUATE STUDENTS ARE INTERNATIONAL

2,200+ GRADUATE STUDENTS

Our graduate students are motivated to think about the questions and most pressing issues that we are facing as a culture and are challenged to be active creators of our collective society. We create spaces where ideas are freely exchanged, and cultivate creativity in a vibrant intellectual environment.

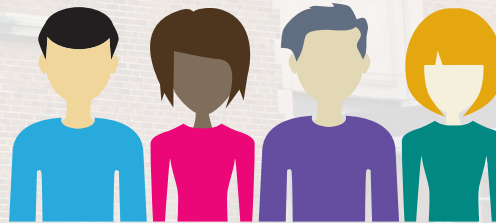

We create opportunities for you to flourish, to propose bold ideas, to establish new networks and to break boundaries.

RESEARCH AND GRADUATE STUDIES

GRADUATE STUDENT TRAINING AND MENTORING

Graduate students play an integral role in our research community by participating in experiential learning, in-lab training, and individual and collective research projects that will open up domestic and international network opportunities. We offer space to ask complex questions, engage with community and lead by example.

COLLABORATION IN AN INTERDISCIPLINARY ENVIRONMENT

The Faculty of Arts and Science is recognized for the innovative quality of its individual and team research, interdisciplinary collaboration, experimentation, critical making and creative thinking. With 25 internationally renowned research centres and institutes, and 38 Research Chairs, our researchers mobilize local communities, influence national issues and engage in global thinking. Learn more about how our research centres match your interests.

FUNDED RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

Our faculty members are recruiting graduate students for their projects, research groups, labs and studios. Join a research group, and work alongside internationally recognized researchers to advance ground breaking ideas that are transforming society. Participate in research that matters.

“Concordia’s graduate diploma in journalism provided me with the skills and opportunities I needed to pursue my career, and prepared me for the fast paced news industry. The program also served as a spring board for further academic study. The faculty was extremely encouraging and I was able to transition seamlessly into the Master’s degree program.”

– Matt Gilmour
Graduate Diploma Journalism
MA Digital Innovation in Journalism

“I chose to pursue my master’s at Concordia because they give you the flexibility and support to carry out experimental and creative projects that expand on what constitutes anthropological research and consequently how we come to know what it is to be human.”

“I chose a PhD in Chemistry at Concordia because of its dynamic and hands-on experience in the chemistry labs. Most schools don’t have anywhere near as many lab courses as we do!”

FUNDING YOUR GRADUATE DEGREE

Financial considerations are an important factor in planning your graduate career. This is why all graduate students applying to Arts and Science are automatically considered for entrance scholarships and fellowships, tuition remissions and teaching assistantships. Applicants to research-based programs are also considered for research assistantships and bursaries.

Applying for Provincial or Federal research awards? Newly admitted students receiving government funding receive a Special Entrance Award valued at $6,000 for Master's and $10,000 for Doctoral students. Apply for these graduate scholarships when preparing your program application and benefit from Concordia's top-up funding.

In-program students can receive financial support through awards and prizes in recognition of excellence, as teaching and research assistantships, for presenting at conferences, to engage in fieldwork, and as incentives to graduate sooner.
